Product designer with 5 years shipping end-to-end digital products across fintech, telecom, enterprise data, and consumer mobile — pairing the imagination of a poet with the rigor of a mathematician. Keen student of the human condition: I study the people and systems my designs shape, then sweat the interaction details until complex things feel inevitable. Comfortable across art and technology — from design-system architecture to AI-assisted prototyping with Claude, Cursor, and Figma Make — and fluent presenting to clients and shipping with engineering.
